

ASSASSINS TWICE ATTEMPT TO SLAY VERA CRUZ BISHOP

Apostolic Delegate Calls
Upon the Government to Amend Anti-Religious
Laws—Virtually All
Churches in State
Are Closed.

Mexico City.—The Rt. Rev. Rafael Guizar y Valencia, Bishop of Vera Cruz, is in hiding after twice having escaped death at the hands of assassins.

Details of the attempts upon the life of the Bishop have not been made public, but it is known that it was from his present retreat that the prelate sent to Governor Tejeda his offer to go to Jalapa and give up his life if the Governor would promise to allow the Catholics of Vera Cruz to exercise their religion unmolested.

Virtually all of the churches in the State have been closed. Even those in which pastors have obtained legal orders restraining State officials from proceeding against them have, in many instances, been closed by federal officials to protect the property. This is true particularly in parishes where the clergy are in hiding. The doors of the churches have been locked and federal authorities are undertaking to guard the religious articles within the buildings.

Killing Stirs Entire Nation
Turbulent conditions in the State of Vera Cruz have aroused the entire nation. The assassination of Father Acosta and the grave injury inflicted upon Father Lara, while they were teaching catechism in the parish church of the Assumption in Vera Cruz and the attempted burning of churches in Jalapa has intensified the feeling in adjoining dioceses.

The Most Rev. Leopoldo Ruiz y Flores, Apostolic Delegate in Mexico, has sent a communication to the President, the Senate and the House of Deputies protesting against the Vera Cruz law.

In his letter, the Archbishop deposes the attempt recently made upon the life of Governor Tejeda of Vera Cruz. Meanwhile all attempts to discover the identity of the youth who engaged in a pistol duel with the Governor have been unavailing.

Father Acosta, victim of the Vera Cruz assassins, was ordained only two months ago in this city. Father Lara, who was wounded, has been a priest for but six months.

Father Rosas, who was with Fathers Acosta and Lara when the assassins opened fire in the church, but who escaped injury, is reported to have declared that the Chief of Police of Vera Cruz was with the killers and entered the church with them. The police chief had previously been reported to have remained at the door and it had been stated that he was in disguise.

PLAN FOR ISABELLA STATUE IN WASHINGTON ADVANCES

Washington.—The Daughters of Isabella, through Mrs. Alice C. Bickler, of this city, a national director, this week took initial steps looking toward the erection of a monument to Queen Isabella in the National Capitol.

Such a memorial was first proposed four years ago, but it was not until the National Circle of the Daughters of Isabella, at the convention held recently in Boston, that the Order officially sponsored the project. The organization at that time pledged itself to raise not less than $100,000 for this purpose, and voted to tax each individual member two cents a month until the necessary fund is available.

Mrs. Bickler this week notified the National Commission of Fine Arts of the action taken by the national meeting, thus bringing the project to official attention and inaugurating the process which leads to the erection of a monument on public property in the Capitol. The Commission of Fine Arts is a body created by Congress and composed of seven qualified judges of fine arts whose duty it is, in part, "to advise upon the location of the public squares, streets, and parks in the District of Columbia, and upon the selection of models for statues, fountains and monuments erected under authority of the United States and upon the selection of the artists for the execution of same."

Congressional Act Necessary
It will be necessary for Congress to pass legislation authorizing the erection of the proposed memorial on pub-

BIRTH PREVENTION DECLARED MENACE TO WESTERN RACES

Noted Biologist Says Occidental Culture Is Being Undermined by Eugenists—United States
Catholics Are Represented.

By the Rev. Dr. Wilhelm Baron von Capitaine
(Cologne Correspondent of N. C. W. C. News Service)

Cologne.—Birth prevention for economic reasons and sterilization for eugenic reasons were pointed out as the chief causes of the cultural retrogression of the occidental races by Professor J. Baron of Bonn University, one of the world's foremost authorities in biology, in an address delivered at the session of the Reichsbund der Kinderreichen Deutschlands, a union of families having more than four children.

Birth control and sterilization, for any reason whatever, were denounced by Dr. Baron again in an address at a meeting held concurrently by the Comité Internationale pour la Vie de la Famille in this city. At this session reports were made on the increasing menace of birth control and sterilization movements in Belgium, Germany, Holland, France and the United States.

The constantly diminishing birth rate in occidental nations, Dr. Baron reminded his hearers, brings them year by year closer to the grave of races. Not only, he said, has birth prevention endangered the numerical continuance of these nations, their quantity, but it has also undermined their quality. He advised international economists to give greater consideration to this disappearance of quality.

Sterilization Is Denounced
"Retrospection of births," Dr. Baron said, "means disappearance of the talented, the stunting of the intelligence, the crippling of the working power of the individual. According to the teachings of students of heredity, based upon long investigation, the maintenance of quality depends on quantity, i. e., large families."

In his denunciation of the sponsors of sterilization, Dr. Baron said: "Christianity has taught that every human life is a creation of God, created for Him and for eternity, and that the noblest deed of man is love for the weak. Let us imagine for one moment only that the new-heathenish idea of the killing of inferior lives should be carried through to its last consequences. Who is not shocked at imagining this? The killing of the unborn has grown to such an extent that it surpasses all human ideas. Who can guarantee that it shall not be applied also to the born? This movement is one of the most terrible signs of our time."

Diocesan Clergy To Meet at Notre Dame For Retreat

Approximately 200 Fort Wayne diocesan priests under leadership of the Rt. Rev. Bishop John F. Noll, D. D., will assemble at the University of Notre Dame for the annual retreat to be held there August 16-20. The spiritual exercises open Sunday night at Sacred Heart church, and the retreat solemnly closes next Thursday morning when the Apostolic blessing will be imparted. Masses in the churches will be at the regular hours next Sunday morning, the clergy leaving at the noon hour or shortly after for the University.

The Rev. Francis Xavier McCabe, a prominent Vincentian and former president of DePaul University, Chicago, has been secured as retreatmaster. He is a speaker of considerable ability and is much in demand for retreats and missionary activities. Those exempted from attending the retreat are the newly ordained who made their retreat prior to ordination and those physically unable to participate in it. The newly ordained in Fort Wayne are: the Rev. Leo McHale of St. Patrick's and the Rev. Clement Ewald of St. Jude's.

The second retreat of the summer is announced for the priests of the Congregation of the Most Precious Blood. It will open Monday night at the motherhouse, St. Charles' Seminary, Carthage, Ohio.

Physicians Attest Remarkable Cure At Lourdes Shrine

Paris.—Confirmed by doctors only after thorough observation in accordance with the rules of the medical bureau at Lourdes, a particularly remarkable cure has just been announced by the Bureau of Medical Authentications at the Shrine.

Mme. Pedron, 31 years old, after having been stricken with cerebral and spinal meningitis was left afflicted with a dread disease, lesions of the spinal marrow. After eight years of hopeless struggle, during which she was attended by noted medical men of Paris, she had been transferred to a hospital, presumably dying.

Last year she was allowed to go on a diocesan pilgrimage from Paris to Lourdes. On her return she became aware of the cessation of cerebral pains with which she had been afflicted. Ten days later, after receiving Holy Communion, she discovered that her legs, virtually lifeless for eight years, had regained their sensitiveness. She walked, awkwardly at first, but soon her muscles regained strength.

Several physicians have certified that the cure is complete.

SOCIALIST PROGRAM IN SPAIN AIMS NEW BLOWS AT RELIGION

Madrid Session Sponsors
Anti-Religious Measures
—Expulsion of Orders and Confiscation of Church Property
Are Advocated.

The following dispatch, in view of reports just published announcing that the political Parliamentary Commission in Spain has decided to present a bill to the Cortes (National Assembly) calling for his expulsion of religious orders and the confiscation of Church property, is of particular interest since it reveals the background of the anti-Christian movement in Spain.

Barcelona, Spain.—At an extraordinary session held in Madrid recently leaders of the Socialist party in Spain drew up a program of proposals which they will attempt to have enacted into legislation at the coming session of the Cortes. The conclusions reached are all-important for the future of the Catholic Church in Spain since the Socialist party is the largest and best disciplined in the country.

The primary projects with which the Socialist legislators will occupy themselves, it was stated, will be State control of the Church, dissolution of religious congregations, confiscation of Church property and confessional independence of the State. The Catholic membership of the Cortes will, of course, vigorously oppose these measures designed to bring about State control of the Church and interference with its religious activities.

Unfortunately, Socialists in this country are anti-religious and have been since their party first was formed. The citizenry generally, therefore, will not recognize that an individual can be at the same time a good Catholic and a Socialist, although their acceptance of the Republican regime is virtually complete.

Again and again the doctrine of the Church on the different forms of government has been expounded. On the advent of the Republic, virtually all of the Bishops of Spain published pastoral letters advising the faithful to be loyal to the new regime.

Recently the Bishop of Madrid stated, in an interview: "We are neither in favor of nor against the Republic; we are neutral in politics. The Church is not against the Republic. Republicanism is not, in any way, in contradiction with religion."

As finally adopted the program of the Socialist party favors equality of rights for both sexes. Considerable opposition arose in the sessions to the granting of woman's suffrage. Certain of the Socialist delegates declared it would be "dangerous" to grant women the vote at this time. It was recalled that one of the members of the Cabinet had declared during the electoral campaign: "We have to take women from the confessional before letting them vote."

The question of woman's suffrage is of paramount importance to the Church as the faith is well-grounded in the women of Spain. At the last election women were not permitted to vote, although they had the right to seek office. Two women were elected to the Congress.

LEADING CHILD CARE PLANS OF CATHOLICS COMPILED IN SURVEY

New Brochure by the Rev.
Dr. John M. Cooper Sets
Forth Best Programs and Practices Used in 100 Leading Catholic Institutions.

Washington.—A handbook setting forth the best programs, policies and practices followed in about one hundred of the most prominent Catholic child caring institutions in America has become available with the publication of "Children's Institutions," by the Rev. Dr. John M. Cooper, of the Catholic University of America.

A Sequel Study
This volume, said to be the first work of its kind ever produced, represents a sequel study to the one on which a special committee of the National Conference of Catholic Charities composed of priests and Sisters actively engaged in children's work based its program of workable standards for Catholic child caring institutions in 1923. In the last few years, the National Conference of Catholic Charities has received repeated requests from religious in charge of child caring institutions for assistance in planning building programs and in the development of standards of adequate child care. The work just published undertakes to meet these needs by giving an analysis of the methods by which the commonly accepted standards and policies are put into effect, and by suggesting goals that can be reached by the average institution within the next ten years.

"Every effort was made to make the study national in the sense of covering the various sections of the country, and representative in the sense of covering the various Orders and the various types of institutions," it is stated in a foreword to the work. "The study was intentionally confined to homes for dependent children, to the exclusion of institutions for delinquents or defectives as well as of infant homes proper. . . . We tried, however, to reach as many institutions, representing the various religious orders, institutional types, and geographical districts, as was possible under our limitations."

"Our purpose has been, not to discover new facts or principles, nor to appraise old procedures, but to learn the best practices to actual use, to compile these into a single manual, and thus to put at the disposal of each of our institutions the best experiences of all. . . . Our purpose has been to learn and to gather together these policies, methods, and devices that have been weighed in the balance of actual experience and found not wanting. The present project represents, therefore, an attempt to pool the experience of our institutions themselves."

Types of Institutional Care
The study, made under the auspices of the National Conference of Catholic Charities and The Commonwealth Fund of New York City, covers the following phases of institutional care: Religious Care and Training; Moral Training; Discipline, Freedom and Self-Reliance; Mental Health; Medical Care; Physical Care and Health Training; Recreation; Education; Social Policies; Congregate, Group and Cottage Systems; Administration and Finance; Plant and Equipment.

BISHOPS' COURAGE BALKED EMPEROR'S EFFORT TO RULE EPHEBUS COUNCIL

This is the fourth of a series of articles dealing with the great Council of Ephesus, the fifteenth anniversary of which is being observed this year. It was this council which affirmed the true doctrine of the Incarnation and denounced the heresy of Nestorius. The present article deals with the Church and State at the Council. The final article will appear shortly.

BY VERY REV. PATRICK J. HEALY, S.T.D.,
Professor of Ecclesiastical History, Catholic University of America

The relation of the Roman Emperors to the early Ecumenical Councils has been the subject of much misrepresentation and distortion. It cannot be denied that the Emperors had a close and intimate connection with the Councils, but this connection afforded no ground for the assertion that the Councils were political in character, that they were convoked solely by the rulers, that their deliberations were conducted under imperial supervision, or that their enactments were not valid without the sanction of the Emperor.

It goes without saying that no general assembly of bishops could be held at that time without the approval of the Emperor. All the means of communication were under State control, and it rested entirely with the Emperor to determine whether those means of communication were to be available for bishops, most of whom had to travel great distances to take part in the Councils. After the time of Constantine all roads led, not to the old Rome on the Tiber but to the new Rome on the Bosphorus. Hence the early Ecumenical Councils were held either in Constantinople or in some city such as Nicea, Chalcedon, or Ephesus, which was not far from Constantinople.

The right to legal existence which was granted to the Church at the be-

SUCCESS ATTENDS LAYMEN'S RETREAT AT NOTRE DAME U.

Over One Thousand Men

Walk In the Rain—The Bishop Takes Prominent Part—District
Showing Is Fine.

Notre Dame, Ind.—Attended by more than one thousand men, the thirteenth annual Catholic Laymen's Retreat, which had been in progress at the University of Notre Dame from the preceding Thursday night, closed Sunday forenoon. Conducted by the Rev. William Burke, C. S. C., widely-known Holy Cross missionary, who was retreatmaster, and arranged by the Rev. Thomas Kearney, C. S. C., Director of Lay Retreats at the University, the annual event passed all expectations in point of attendance.

Fifteen states were represented. While the leading number of retreatants came from the Chicago district, the largest number from Indiana attended from Fort Wayne No. 5, upwards of 170 forming the group. Practically all of the former retreatants from Fort Wayne with numerous additions of leading laymen were in attendance. Giving generous encouragement to the retreat movement, the Rt. Rev. Bishop took a prominent part in the events marking the retreat.

Holy Hour Saturday night at Sacred Heart church, Notre Dame, was immediately followed by the great open-air Eucharistic procession from the church to the grove of Our Lady of Lourdes. Despite a heavy down-pour of rain the men marched to the grove and the Bishop carried the Most Blessed Sacrament, walking under a canopy borne by seminarians. Laymen formed the guard of honor. The paths were illuminated with electric lights and the men marched with lighted candles. Priests, brothers, candidates for the priesthood and brotherhood took part in the solemnities and the Moreau Seminary choir sang for the occasion.

At the grove where the Blessed Sacrament was enthroned on an altar erected for the services the men, standing with their lighted candles, solemnly renewed their baptismal vows, the Holy Name Society pledge and also pledged their allegiance to the American flag. On their return to the church Father Burke gave the closing conference of the retreat, after which the Bishop officiated at Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament, Holy Cross priests assisting.

Sunday morning the Bishop celebrated the Mass at 6:30 a. m., at which all of the men received Holy Communion and the Apostolic Blessing was imparted by the retreatmaster.

The closing event of the retreat was the breakfast-banquet and farewell reunion at the University dining hall. William Fitzgerald of Detroit, Mich., presided as toastmaster. The Bishop, Frank M. Hogan, Fort Wayne attorney, Father Burke, Fathers Kearney, and district chairmen responded. In order to attend the events and lend impetus to the retreat movement, the Bishop cancelled an appointment to meet with a committee of Bishops at Atlantic City in the interest of the Catholic University, Washington, D. C.
